Acknowledgements

The Bureau would like to acknowledge all the voluntary contributions of Ms. Maria Kottermair that initially began as part of her senior thesis project towards her degree in Cartography and Geomedia-Technology from the Munich University of Applied Sciences.

The Bureau would like to acknowledge the assistance of the Mayors of Guam and the staff of the Office of Highway Planning, Department of Public Works for assisting in the updating of the street names.

Disclaimer

This Map Book publication was developed by the Land Use Planning and Guam Coastal Management Programs of the Bureau of Statistics and Plans (LUPP/GCMP/BSP). The Bureau has taken considerable efforts to ensure the maps and data provided in this publication are accurate. These efforts included utilizing officially recognized sources for the attribute data collected; and land survey data points, sub-meter Global Positioning Systems (GPS) receivers, and geo-referenced satellite imagery to verify the locations of the features depicted. These maps are not intended to be a substitute for land surveys or legal documents. This Map Book is intended for providing information to guide users along Guam's streets. The data used to generate the features depicted herein may have changed after the data was compiled or after the printing of this publication. If necessary, the users of this publication should contact the primary sources of information of the features in this publication for further verification. For the streets layer, the Department of Public Works and the Mayors of Guam share the mandated responsibilities for the naming of the streets. The Bureau assumes no legal responsibility for the information contained in these maps.

Map of the Region

Introduction

The Map Book project was undertaken to fulfill a necessity for an up-to-date accurate map document showing the locations and names of the island's streets and other significant features of interest. Though there were some limited mapping products out in the marketplace Government officials were looking for such a product to facilitate better government planning, and operations through Geographic Information systems. More specifically, this document was needed for better land use planning, emergency response-recovery planning and operations and delivery of government services, such as trash pick-up. At the time the Bureau undertook this project, various outdated sources of maps, as late as 1994, were being utilized to route such government services. The last time the Bureau created such a similar document was the 1976 Edition Street Atlas of Guam.

About the Map Book Process

Data Collection and Sources

In the process of producing this Map Book the Bureau needed to collect the most current data possible. The primary data layers needed would be the streets, points of interest, prominent landmarks and administrative boundaries. The project really began by undertaking the update of the streets data. The update of the other data layers were undertaken as necessary and when time provided for.

The data for this Map Book was compiled mainly by the Bureau from various sources. The primary focus of this Map Book, streets data, was compiled and updated by the Bureau utilizing sources such as the Highways Maps of Guam 1998, the Bureau's Streets GIS Database, satellite imagery, and the Guam Mayors. The update and verification of streets names was compiled by the Bureau from the Mayors of each Municipality.

As much as reasonably possible the Bureau tried to utilize as officially recognized data sources. Land survey data points, sub-meter Global Positioning Systems (GPS) receivers, and geo-referenced satellite imagery were utilized to verify the information and locations of features depicted here. Sub-meter resource grade Trimble receivers were also utilized to capture the locations of some roads and other features as needed. Digital Globe satellite imagery of .60 meters ground resolution taken between November 2003 and February 2005 was utilized in the update to digitize the streets.

Metadata

Metadata is information about data. More information on the data sets such as how the data was collected, the accuracy of the data and imagery used for geo-referencing can be obtained from the Bureau's Land Use Planning Program.

Street Names

Guam law (Guam Code Annotated 5, Government Operations, Chapter 40, Mayors of Guam), gives the responsibility for "planning and implementing a streets naming and house numbering system" to the Mayors. Other government entities, like the Bureau and the Department of Public Works are involved in the mapping and documentation of streets and street names. The Mayors are involved, with their constituents in the naming process. Additionally, the Governor and Guam Legislature from time to time also legislate the naming of certain highways or streets.

Placenames

U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) Topographic maps Geographic Names Information Systems (GNIS), as well as local sources were utilized for the place names in this publication. For more information on GNIS go to USGS website at www.usgs.gov.

Mapping Software

The suite of ESRI Geographic Information Systems software was utilized in the mapping process. The DS Map Book tool was utilized to develop this map book. For more information on the tool go to www.esri.com.

How to Use this Map Book

There are a couple of methods to utilize this map book. The method utilized depends upon, what the user is trying to locate and what information they may know which will determine how the search is conducted.

By Index Map Number

If you are interested in a particular area of the island go to the the map index, find the area you are interested in, and note the map file number/s. Turn to the pages with the noted map numbers located on the top right of each page. You can then view what streets or points of interests are labeled and known to exist in that area.

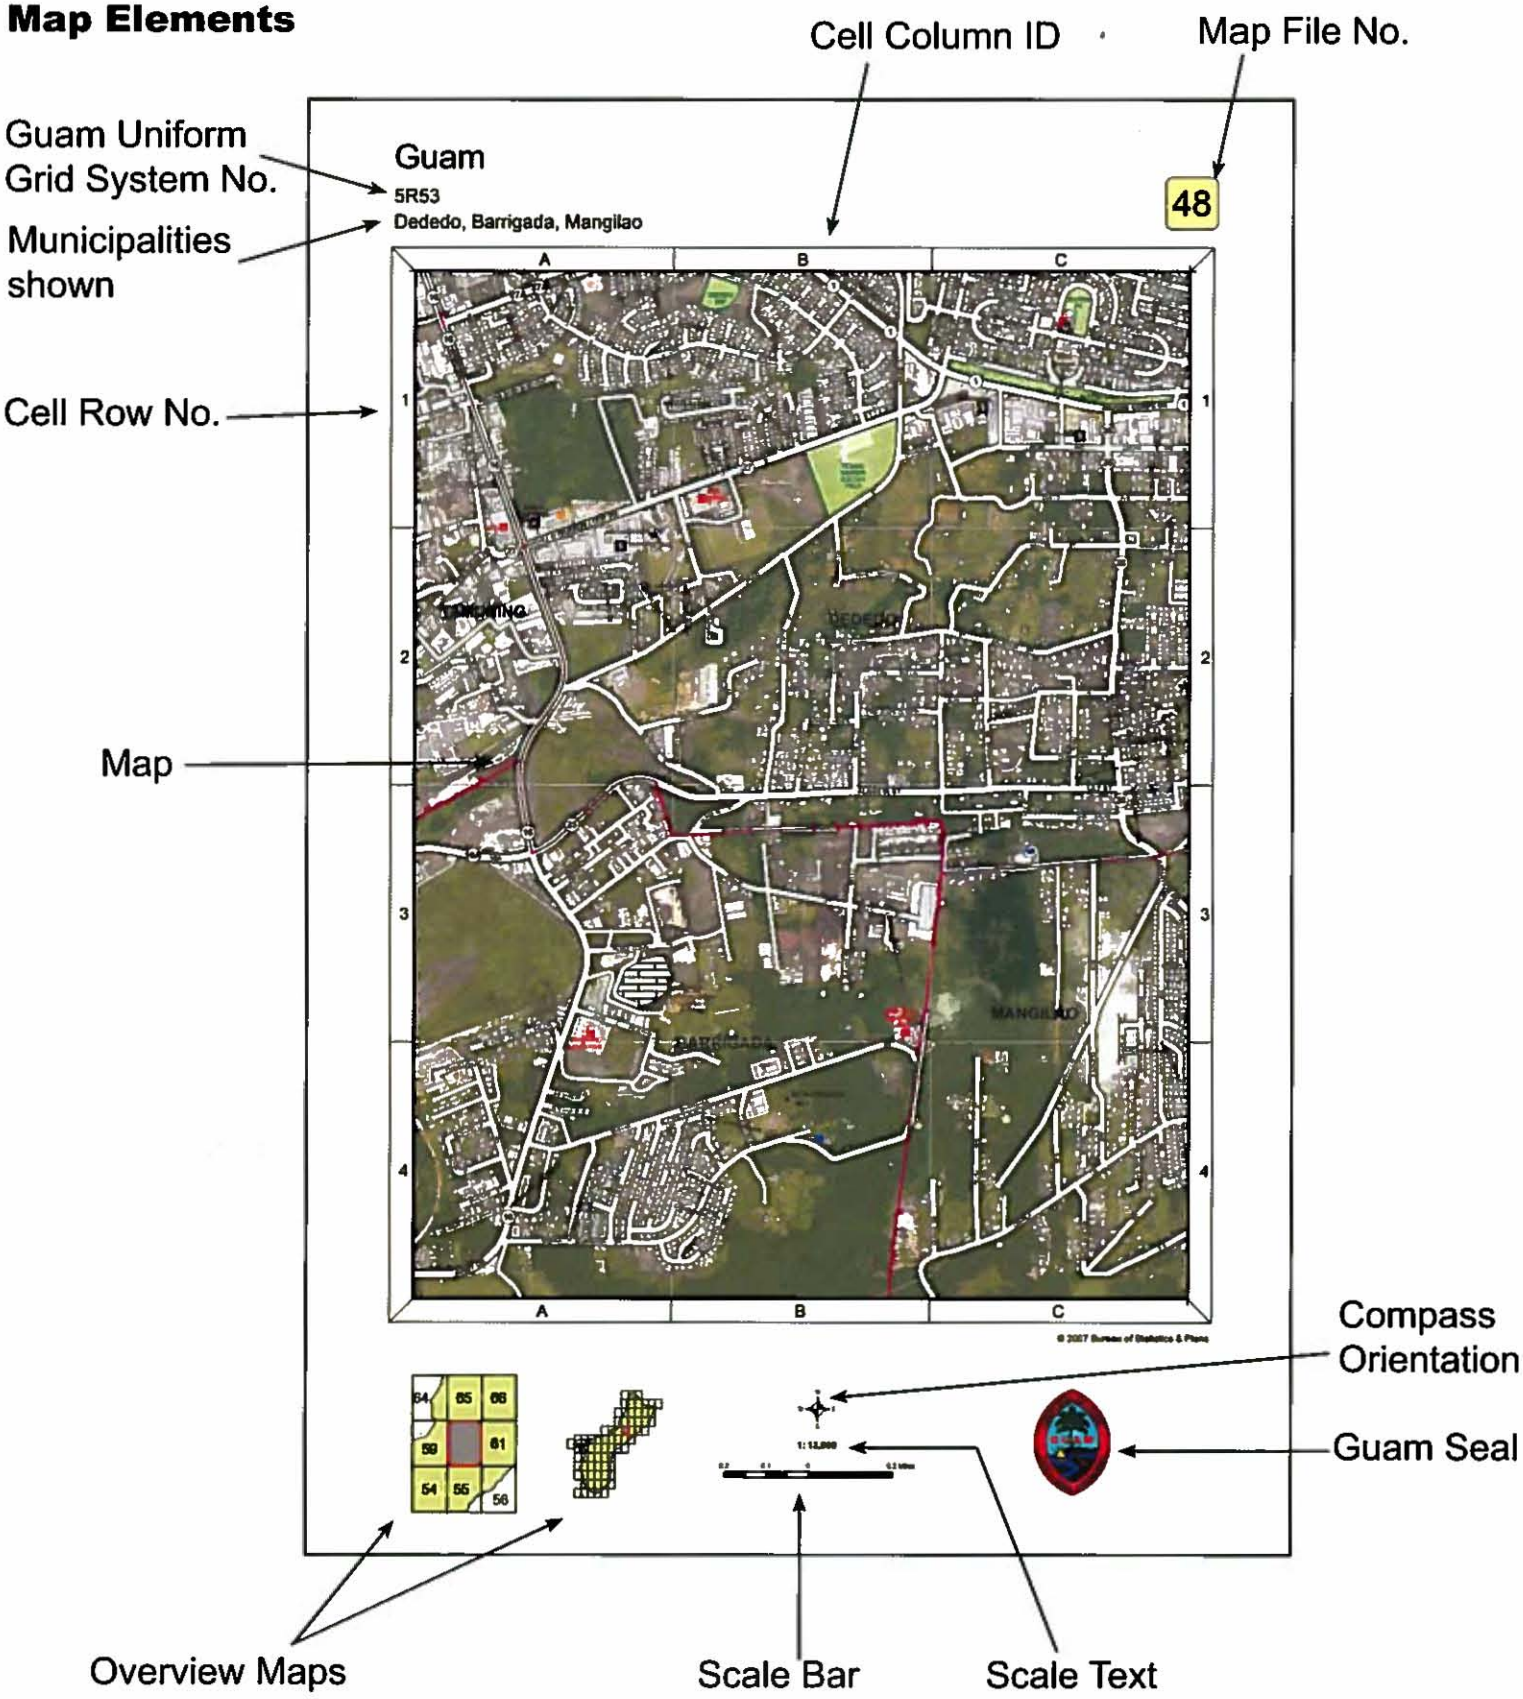

By Street or Point of Interest Index

If street name or point of Interest is known:

Step 1 – Go to the Route and Streets or Landmarks Index pages and find the street or landmarks you are interested in. Note the map number it is located in and the 2 digit cell code (Cell Column ID and Cell Row No., eg. B1) that points to where in the main map sheet the street or point of interest is in. Note: Some streets and points of interest features may span more than one index grid though only one index grid code will be noted.

Step 2 – Go to map page with main map grid grid number noted and then to the intersection of the 2 digit index grid . Look for labeled street or point of interest.

This is an aerial photograph of Andersen Air Force Base (AFB) in Guam, overlaid with a coordinate grid. The grid is labeled with letters A, B, and C across the top and bottom, and numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4 along the left and right sides. The base itself is a large, rectangular area with a dense network of white lines representing roads. To the north of the base is Mergagah Point, and to the northeast is Tarague Beach. The village of Fafalog is located to the west of the base. The map shows various streets, including main roads like 1st Ave, 2nd Ave, 3rd Ave, 4th Ave, 5th Ave, 6th Ave, 7th Ave, 8th Ave, 9th Ave, 10th Ave, 11th Ave, 12th Ave, 13th Ave, 14th Ave, 15th Ave,
